

CARRY ME FROM THIS PLACE ... FOR MY EGO IS SURE

Poetry
by Papi

Papi – November 26, 2012

Carry me from this place
For the meager comprehension I now own
Assures me of a greater place that needs neither flesh nor bone
Carry me ... for my ego is sure
It has seen everything required ... from this place
From this place of darkness ... from it carry me - Carry me from this place

Carry me from this place
For the greater Spirit now enlightening my soul
Calls me to a supernal place of grandeur on high where humility gives soul new role
Carry me ... for my ego is sure
It has heard everything required ... from this place
From this place of confusion ... from it carry me - Carry me from this place

Carry me from this place
For the worthiness of any single participant reviewed
In light of "That Perfected All" sets the accomplished journey of desire as renewed
Carry me ... for my ego is sure
Of its focus upon creation's intended design ... from this place
From this place of wandering ... from it carry me - Carry me from this place

Carry me from this place
For purity's vision sets new the rearrangement now
Begging one to reinvest its desire. From Eden's broken place of law and consequence
Carry me ... for my ego is sure
That the teaching flows until it arrives ... from this place
From this place of wandering ... from it carry me - Carry me from this place

Carry me from this place
For the search of external exam turns in true repentance
Manifesting that internal purpose until it erodes like loosened earth
Carry me ... for my ego is sure
As a man consciously moves the foot for his last step ... from this place
From this place of duality ... from it carry me - Carry me from this place

Carry me from this place
For the soul and emulsified dust mutually have resigned their bond
Awaiting the sound of the wind. Each knowing its eternal resting upon departure
Carry me ... for my ego is sure
That its revelation of existence has made its full cycle ... from this place
From this place of learning ... from it carry me - Carry me from this place

